Environmental Technician Training

Sylvia Dawson (Class of 2000) working at Lovelace.

Free Job Training Begins March 12, 2001

DO YOU WANT TO:

- ACCESS HIGHER PAYING JOBS
- PROTECT AND CLEANUP THE ENVIRONMENT
- LEARN MORE ABOUT HEALTH AND SAFETY

The County, in conjunction with the Environmental Protection Agency and Albuquerque TVI, has scheduled another Environmental Technician Training for local residents. The program is targeted at unemployed or under employed individuals and is open to people who want to expand their career options.

The 2000 Environmental Technician Training was a success. Many of the graduates of the 2000 Training are working in the environmental industry with average salaries of nearly $10.50/hr.

The County has added new material to the 2001 Training. In addition to learning the basics of environmental regulations and other skills, the 2001 Training will include instruction in water sampling along with an overview of Global Positioning System (GPS) and Geographical Information System (GIS).
